

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Users access a host server which, in a structured manner, generates questions regarding electronic commerce requirements. The responses are used to automatically determine suitable electronic commerce products and services and to allow user

5 registration for selected products and services.